The Stomach Cannot be Freighted. With greater trash than a violent drastic purga True, such a medicine relieves constips tion for the time, but at the expense of great injury to the intestinal capal, which it both in flames and weakens, thus unfitting it for the performance of its proper functions. Widely different is the action of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic aperient which produces effects prempt, indeed, but never violent and convulsing. The purity of its botanic ingredients, its unobjectionable flavor, its genial influence upon the mind, and the thoroughness of its remedial action in cases of constipation, liver complaint and dyspepsia, combine to render it a most desirable family specific. It increases both physical vigor and substance, tranquilizes and in vigorates the nervous system, and gaves an unwonted relish for the food. A wineglass three times daily is about the average dose.

At Pinniger & Queen's new drug store may be found the largest and best assertment of the purest drugs, medicines, wines and brandies at the lowest figures even known in Reno. Prescriptions scientifically compounded from ingredients of known purity and full strength.

An exchange says: Leadville is so named because of the lead inad vertantly carried away by persons who go there and get saucy. A person was buried in the local cemetery there not long ago who was so full of lead that the bearers thought it was a case of premature petrifaction.

FACTS.-A Southern edition in an interview says that the only hope for the South is in immigration and capital, and that must come from and through the North. The foolish tative men have kept the North inflamed and incurred your hostility. at personal violence (dueling) as a redress for personal wrongs is another obstacle. The Cox-Alston and merous. Then the many attempts at repudiation by States have helped to ruin our credit and shut out capital. Immigration will never go where life is insecure; nor capital where repudiation is advocated. EXCEEDINGLY DUNGEONED.

The latest French trouble is Blanqui. Blanqui is one of the relics, now seventy-four years old. He has spent more time in prison than any other Gallic statesman. Whatever the Government might be. it was a part of its programme to eage Blanqui. Louis Philippe condemned him to death, but did not dare to execute him on account of his popularity. Napoleon III. imprisoned him, but the last revolution released him; and when the Commune, which he had fiercely advocated, broke out, President Thiers shut him up again. And there he is now, in prison and under sentence of forfeiture of all his civil rights; and there he was the other day when Bordeaux returned him as her representative in the French Assembly. The Radicals demand his release and admission to his seat; the moderate Republicans oppose it; and the Government is in a quandary. Why not ship him to America and give him a chance to represent a Southern Bashi-Bazouk district in the Confedro Democratic Congress.

The Associated Press representative visited the Roddan ranch at Wheatland Monday. The two sufferers were feeling as well as could be expected. In answer to an inquiry, Cora spoke in a cheerful manner, but she is evidently unaware of the real cause of her injuries. It has been suggested that perhaps her mind is not yet right, but this supposition is opposed by her friends, who say that her memory is not impaired; that she speaks of persons and events that she knew of before the outrage, and that her mind is certainly clear. She thinks she has the brain fever. The interview was a brief one. Ida Dunn is improving more rapidly, and, in fact, will soon be able to walk about the house. She talks freely to visitors. Cora went to bed first on the night of the outrage, and Ida put out the light. She says she is certain of They also offer to make special rates for this. It will be remembered that the light was found burning. Ida knows of no one whom she would believe guilty of the assault, and declares that she has told all that she kaows about it.

> BOOTH'S LAND BILL,-The bill in troduced by Senator Booth, to prevent obstructions to pre-emption and homestead settlement provides that the occupation, inclosure, or cultivation of any portion of public lands, except by persons having a claim thereto under the United States laws shall not withhold the same from homestead or pre-emption settlement, and any person not having any such local claim, who shall by force or intimidation prevent such settlement. shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both. The necessity for this bill arises from the practice of herders and others in a certain quarter of cultivating, or pretending to cultivate, some portions of extensive tracts which they desire, perhaps by merely drawing a furrow around them as a means of preventing bona fide settlements. The Commissioner of the General Land Office has recently ruled that he has no power to protect settlers against this practice.

NEVADA STATE UNIVERSITY.-The State University of Nevada, located at Elko, does not, says the Post, re ceive the attention that its importance demands. Still at Large.

Charles Ennis, sentenced to seven years in the State's prison from Eureks for highway robbery, who escaped from Sheriff Kyle by jumping Why not try it? What does Prof. from the cars while on the way to Stewart thtuk of it? Carson, is still at large. The Sheriff offers $200 for his apprehension. Ennis is about 30 years of age, five feet nine inches in height, weighs 165 pounds, has a dark complexion, heavy eyebrows, index finger gone off his right hand, and wears a habitual downcast expression on his face. He was formerly employed as brakeman on the Virginia & Truckee railroad.

Crops.

Our farmers are beginning to cut their first crop. James Sullivan began a week ago. He will get as big a yield this year as he had last. No grashoppers have appeared in his section. Other farmers are beginning to cut, and all report good first crops, with excellent prospects for the second.

The Pintes have signal fires nightly on the hights of Come, to call their brethren from Mason Valley over to get the dollar each for participating in Virginia's Fourth of July. The Washoes in this section are not patriotic, prefering to rustle for grub and whisky.

Murder Trial.

The trial of Hugh J. Brady, for the murder of Adam Clark, a young man Storey District Court. Brady is the 11th of April last, and the circumstances of the case are rendered again interesting. It appears that Brady, who was employed as a miner, entered the Justice works at the hour stated in a drunken condition, and was told by Clark that he could not go below. Some very angry words were exchanged by the men. and Clark knocked Brady down with a lantern. Brady then left the works swearing vengeance on Clark. Reabove stated. Brady then ran toward the door of the works and met Wm. Elliott, who expostulated with him. Brady pointed the pistol to Elliott's head and fired. Elliott knocked the pistol up and the ball entered the was arrested the following morn-

State Spelling Match. Keyes' State spelling match will come off at Cooper's Hall' Virginia, next Friday night. His prize for the champion orthographist of the State is a gold medal by Fredricks, the wellknown jeweler of the Comstock. This medal is completed, and is of solid gold and valued at $50. Everybody is invited to compete for this prize. Besides this, Keyes offers a silver brick, new style, by Fredricks, to the best speller of each public or private school contending at the match. He has already received letters from Eureka and Elko, stating that representatives of the schools there will be on band and enter the lists of champions. Reno, Carson Silver City, Dayton and other places have also manifested a determination to contend for a prize. A dance will be given after the match is over, and hence to pay music and hall rent an admission of 1 for gentleman and fifty cents for ladies will be charged.

Not Fär from Hell.

Travelers in Steamboat Valley have noticed the peculiar rumbling sound the train makes for several miles. The noise is very much like that made by going over a bridge, which may be accounted for either by the porous nature of the country or that there are subtereanean caverns form ed by the boiling and serging of the waters. After an examination of the numerous hot springs and a few whiffs of the sulphurous atmosphere one is prepared to locate the kingdom of Darkness very close to Steamboat Springs. It is said that upon the occasion of an earthquake the land of the valley rolled like a ribbon in the wind. One of the most inter esting geological studies in the world is afforded at this place. An artesian well or a diamond drill might develop some exceeding interesting features of Nature's handiwork.

Warning.

Chas. Ennis, the convicted grand larcenist, who escaped from Sheriff Kyle of Eureka, while en route for Car-Pacific train near Clark's, was formerly agent for those heavy Eastern-patented shackles, and being short of cash-"soaked" a case filled with the shackles for $50 to a man in Reno. Not redeeming the shackles at the appointed time, the man who loaned the money, requested that keys to said shackles be forwarded. This Ennis declined to do. This probably accounts for Ennis' escape. He doubtless had one of the keys on his person, and watching his opportunity, unlocked his shackles and made his jump for freedom. It is also very likely that Ennis has distributed keys among his thieving pals, to be used in case of emergency. In view of this it would be well for officers having prisoners in charge to doubly secure and keep watchful eyes on their birds.

Forest Fires.

Did you ever fight a forest fire? If not, you do not know how utterly reared in Reno, is now on trial in the hopeless you feel. To see the fire ty. This book will be issued about run almost as fast as you can, along charged with killing Adam Clark on the undergrowth; to see it spread out on every side and laughing at your punny efforts to stay its progress; to see it climb the highest trees like a squirrel; in fact to seem to control and own everything in the vicinity. You may fight it with shovel or broom or water, but you do not seem to make any progress. Then if a wind is stirring the fight is all the he is now in. more to your disadvantage, and it adds to your troubles. Such a fight as this, only beyond description, took turning soon afterwards with a pistol, | place at each of the forest fires which he fired at Clark, with the effect as raged in the Sierras recently. It was only by employing large forces of men who worked with superhuman effort for 24 hours, that it was finally stayed. The destruction to timber at such times is immense, and though we do not feel the loss just now the roof. Brady then left the works and time will come when it will be severely felt.

Struck It Rich.

Yesterday they struck it rich in the Reform mine. In our item of yesterday we explained how they were sinkthrough this they yesterday, at a depth of about 40 feet, or near the water level, opened out a layer of white rock, which is full of black sulphurets, and possesses every indication of being a valuable body. They had opened it a distance of about five feet when the messenger who brought the specimens to town, left, with no indications of giving out visible. It certainly has the appearance of being a very rich deposit. The owners of the Reform feel very much elated over their prospects.

Perfectly Safe.

Many who attended the Berger Family entertainment at Kimball's Hall Monday night, asked anxiously if the floor would hold them up, and many shuddered when an applause was given, as if it made the danger greater. The test then made shows that the floor is stout enough, for it would have been next to impossible to have got many more into that room. The bracing is thorough. We examined it when the subject was so much talked of a year or so ago, and were perfectly convinced that no danger existed of its collapsing. Kimball's Hall is all right as far as that floor is concerned.

Only eleven of the sovereigns of England, since the Norman conquest, have exceeded the age of Victoria, who completed her 60th year on the 24th of May. Next Friday she will have reigned forty-two years, a period that has not been exceeded by more than four English soverigns. Henry III. reigned fifty-six years; Edward III. fifty years; Queen Elizabath, forty-five years, and George III. sixty years. The sovereigns who lived to a greater age than Victoria are: Henry I., 67 years; Henry III., 65 years; Edward I,, 67 years; Edward III., 65 years; Queen Elizabeth, 69 years; James II., 68 years; George I., 67 years; George II., 79 years; George III., 82 years; George IV., 68 years, and William IV., 72 years. Victora stands a fair prospect of reigning longer than any of her predecessors, though she will hardly live to so great an age as some of them did.

> If a man in California, Oregon, or Nevada drops into the Post-office a letter misdirected or without a stamp, as sometimes happens even with careful correspondents, two weeks must clapse before he hears anything of it, for it cannot be opened short of the Dead-Letter Office in Washington, whither it is sent. It is now proposed to get over this difficulty by establishing branch dead-letter offices in different parts of the country, a common-sense plan that is in practice in Great Britain.

The San Francisco Municipal reports very often contain rich reading. In his last annual report Superintendent A. L.
